Strength in Group Benefits overshadowed by Corp, Asia weakness in 4Q23 EPS miss

Reiterate Rating: BUY | PO: 88.00 USD | Price: 69.32 USD

4Q23 adj. operating EPS of $1.83

This is below our forecast of $2.09 and consensus of $1.92. Notably, included is a one-time adjustment of $76mn (-$0.10/share) related to litigation reserves and settlement costs within the Corporate segment; without which the ex-notables EPS of $1.93 is a slight beat to consensus. On a segment basis, Retirement, Asia, Holdings, Corporate & EMEA drove the miss vs our projections, offset by better Group Benefits and LATAM results. Share repurchases of $900mn ran slightly ahead of our $750mn forecast.

Strength in Group Benefits persists

Group Benefits mortality benefits ratio was 83.5%, a slight improvement from a 3Q23 result that had seen the lowest mortality benefits ratio in the recent past. This was offset by a marginal deterioration of the non-medical health ratio vs 3Q23, which overall led to a result in-line with our projections. On the other hand, Retirement ran below our projections as policyholder benefits ran ahead of our projections. The earned/credited investment spread, while still superior to 4Q22, declined marginally from 3Q23. Notably, MetLife reorganized Group Benefits and Retirement as standalone segments starting 4Q23 (both previously reported under US segment) reflecting changes in management responsibilities. With management guidance of continued strength in Group business into 2024, this segment is likely to continue being of interest to investors.

Asbestos charge causes drag as well as weak Asia results

The $76mn charge in the Corporate segment related to addition of litigation costs and settlement reserves related to asbestos reserves. This had the impact of widening Corporate adjusted losses vs 4Q22, but the result was still a marginal improvement from 3Q23. A more material miss in the Asia segment resulted from a combination of lower comparatively lower investment yield and higher credited rate vis-a-vis our forecast.

Price objective drops slightly to $88; reiterate Buy

Our forward EPS forecasts decline modestly upon incorporating 4Q23 results into our model. We project 2025E EPS of $9.70. Our $88 price objective ($89 prior) is predicated on 110% of the year-ahead peer group multiple of 8.3x; we expect ongoing multiple expansion relative to the group due to transition away from capital intensive businesses and focus on higher growth opportunities. With healthy upside to our price objective, we continue rating the shares with a Buy recommendation.

Company Sector

Insurance - Life

Company Description

MetLife (MET) is one of the largest U.S. life insurers and has become a significant global insurer as well. MetLife generates 35% of its earnings from its ongoing U.S. businesses, which include retirement, group benefits, and P&C, 40% from international (Asia, Latin America, and EMEA), and 20% from its legacy U.S. retail life and annuity products.

Investment Rationale

We believe quality concerns at the company will continue to diminish. We believe the market has not fully appreciated MetLife's improved business mix following the spin-off of Brighthouse. We expect cost savings and capital deployment to benefit EPS growth.

Price objective basis & risk

MetLife (MET)

Considering our 2025E EPS forecast, we arrive at a price objective of $88, based on 110% of the U.S. large-cap life peer year-ahead P/E multiple of 8.3x. The premium reflects a transformation at MetLife away from capital intensive businesses and increasing focus on core capabilities by selling the P&C business.

Downside risks to achieving our PO are weaker equity markets and persistent low interest rates, additional charges or reserve issues, failure to achieve net expense initiatives, and lower-than-expected capital deployment.

FUNDAMENTAL EQUITY OPINION KEY: Opinions include a Volatility Risk Rating, an Investment Rating and an Income Rating. VOLATILITY RISK RATINGS, indicators of potential price fluctuation, are: A - Low, B - Medium and C - High. INVESTMENT RATINGS reflect the analyst's assessment of both a stock's absolute total return potential as well as its attractiveness for investment relative to other stocks within its Coverage Cluster (defined below). Our investment ratings are: 1 - Buy stocks are expected to have a total return of at least 10% and are the most attractive stocks in the coverage cluster; 2 - Neutral stocks are expected to remain flat or increase in value and are less attractive than Buy rated stocks and 3 - Underperform stocks are the least attractive stocks in a coverage cluster. An investment rating of 6 (No Rating) indicates that a stock is no longer trading on the basis of fundamentals. Analysts assign investment ratings considering, among other things, the 0-12 month total return expectation for a stock and the firm's guidelines for ratings dispersions (shown in the table below). The current price objective for a stock should be referenced to better understand the total return expectation at any given time. The price objective reflects the analyst's view of the potential price appreciation (depreciation).

Investment rating	Total return expectation (within 12-month period of date of initial rating)	Ratings dispersion guidelines for coverage cluster ^{R2}
Buy	≥ 10%	≤ 70%
Neutral	≥ 0%	≤ 30%
Underperform	N/A	≥ 20%

^{R2} Ratings dispersions may vary from time to time where BofA Global Research believes it better reflects the investment prospects of stocks in a Coverage Cluster.

INCOME RATINGS, indicators of potential cash dividends, are: 7 - same/higher (dividend considered to be secure), 8 - same/lower (dividend not considered to be secure) and 9 - pays no cash dividend. Coverage Cluster is comprised of stocks covered by a single analyst or two or more analysts sharing a common industry, sector, region or other classification(s). A stock's coverage cluster is included in the most recent BofA Global Research report referencing the stock.

BofA ESGMeter Methodology:

ESGMeter is a proprietary metric based on quantitative analysis and fundamental analyst inputs that reflects our assessment of a company's Environmental, Social and Governance-related attributes. The ESGMeter is intended to indicate a company's likelihood of experiencing stronger financial stability (higher return on equity and lower earnings and price volatility) over the next three years relative to peer group. There are three ESGMeter levels - Low, Medium, and High - which indicate whether a company has attributes most likely to translate into superior financial stability (in the case of a High level) or weaker financial stability (in the case of a Low level) over the next three years relative to its peer group. A Medium level suggests that a company exhibits ESG characteristics that are likely associated with financial stability results in line with its peer group over the next three years. Full details of our methodology, financial stability definition and disclaimers are available at BofA ESGMeter methodology. ESGMeter is not indicative of a company's future stock price performance and is not an investment recommendation or rating.

ESGMeter is independent of the BofA Global Research fundamental equity analyst's investment rating, volatility risk rating, income rating or price objective for that company.
