

Brazil Education

Regulatory roadmap: latest updates on BZ Education

Industry Overview

Ânima remains our preferred name

We sum up the main updates on important regulatory topics in Brazil Education and its potential impact for the companies under our coverage. In our view, regulatory triggers in 2024 are more leaned to be headwinds for listed companies which could offset the positive trends in operational performance. We highlight Ânima as our preferred name in the sector as we believe it is somewhat protected from these potential headwinds

Distance Learning: stricter regulation still the base case

We expect the next update on this topic by Feb 28th when Ministry's suspension over DL courses expires. So far, the Ministry of Education has suspended the authorization of new DL courses in 16 careers and licentiate degrees. The measure does not impact intakes from courses that are already authorized and does not impact companies' 2024 intake cycle. However, it is a first sign of what should be revised in the new regulation. If courses are indeed suspended from DL, we see Vitru and CSED as the most impacted names, while Anima and YDUQS seem better positioned. (Exhibit 1).

FIES: New FIES seems marginally positive for 2H24

On Feb. 16th the government announced the return of 100% financing on FIES, which is the main measure to increase usage of the program. Although we recognize the positive effect on on-campus intakes from 2H24 onwards, we see limited impact from the announcement as no seat's expansion vs current program should occur. According to the new rules, 50% of offered seats on FIES will be reserved for the 'FIES social' modality, which is directed to low-income students (family per capita income of half minimum wage). The main challenge is that the new program does not address default problems or future expansion of seats. We expect following announcements to be related to payment rules, but no timing of this decision was provided by the Ministry. (Exhibit 2)

Medicine: Supreme Court is still to decide

On Feb 9th the Supreme Court rebounded the trial to decide over medicine seats created through injunctions. By then, 2 more judges voted: one against injunctions on final steps of approval and one in favor of them. On the same day, Mr. Alexandre de Moraes asked for a review on the case, suspending the trial for up to 90 days. There are still 5 judges to vote on the matter. According to Court rules, one more vote against injunctions could be enough to suspend them. If approved, we estimate injunctions could cause an extra opening of 30k seats, which could be disruptive. We expect the trial to resume by May.

Mais Médicos: judicialization continues to delay MM3

Mais Médicos third auction should be positive for the listed companies even after new rules limiting the number of proposals they might submit. However, as the auction continues to be postponed, we do not expect it to be a positive trigger for stocks in 2024. Main beneficiaries in our view continue to be Afya, YDUQS and Ânima. (Exhibit 3).

Disclosures

Important Disclosures

FUNDAMENTAL EQUITY OPINION KEY: Opinions include a Volatility Risk Rating, an Investment Rating and an Income Rating. VOLATILITY RISK RATINGS, indicators of potential price fluctuation, are: A - Low, B - Medium and C - High. INVESTMENT RATINGS reflect the analyst's assessment of both a stock's absolute total return potential as well as its attractiveness for investment relative to other stocks within its Coverage Cluster (defined below). Our investment ratings are: 1 - Buy stocks are expected to have a total return of at least 10% and are the most attractive stocks in the coverage cluster; 2 - Neutral stocks are expected to remain flat or increase in value and are less attractive than Buy rated stocks and 3 - Underperform stocks are the least attractive stocks in a coverage cluster. An investment rating of 6 (No Rating) indicates that a stock is no longer trading on the basis of fundamentals. Analysts assign investment ratings considering, among other things, the 0-12 month total return expectation for a stock and the firm's guidelines for ratings dispersions (shown in the table below). The current price objective for a stock should be referenced to better understand the total return expectation at any given time. The price objective reflects the analyst's view of the potential price appreciation (depreciation).

Investment rating	Total return expectation (within 12-month period of date of initial rating)	Ratings dispersion guidelines for coverage cluster <sup>R1</sup>
Buy	≥ 10%	≤ 70%
Neutral	≥ 0%	≤ 30%
Underperform	N/A	≥ 20%

<sup>R1</sup> Ratings dispersions may vary from time to time where BofA Global Research believes it better reflects the investment prospects of stocks in a Coverage Cluster.

INCOME RATINGS, indicators of potential cash dividends, are: 7 - same/higher (dividend considered to be secure), 8 - same/lower (dividend not considered to be secure) and 9 - pays no cash dividend. Coverage Cluster is comprised of stocks covered by a single analyst or two or more analysts sharing a common industry, sector, region or other classification(s). A stock's coverage cluster is included in the most recent BofA Global Research report referencing the stock.

BofA Global Research personnel (including the analyst(s) responsible for this report) receive compensation based upon, among other factors, the overall profitability of Bank of America Corporation, including profits derived from investment banking. No security, financial instrument or derivative is suitable for all investors. Digital assets are extremely speculative, volatile and are largely unregulated. In some cases, securities and other financial instruments may be difficult to value or sell and reliable information about the value or risks related to the security or financial instrument may be difficult to obtain. Investors should note that income from such securities and other financial instruments, if any, may fluctuate and that price or value of such securities and instruments may rise or fall and, in some cases, investors may lose their entire principal investment. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Levels and basis for taxation may change.

This report may contain a short-term trading idea or recommendation, which highlights a specific near-term catalyst or event impacting the issuer or the market that is anticipated to have a short-term price impact on the equity securities of the issuer. Short-term trading ideas and recommendations are different from and do not affect a stock's fundamental equity rating, which reflects both a longer term total return expectation and attractiveness for investment relative to other stocks within its Coverage Cluster. Short-term trading ideas and recommendations may be more or less positive than a stock's fundamental equity rating.

BofA Securities is aware that the implementation of the ideas expressed in this report may depend upon an investor's ability to "short" securities or other financial instruments and that such action may be limited by regulations prohibiting or restricting "shortselling" in many jurisdictions. Investors are urged to seek advice regarding the applicability of such regulations prior to executing any short idea contained in this report.
