Key takeaways from 2024 tanker outlook and Red Sea disruptions call with Gibson

Industry Overview

Key takeaways from Red Sea call with Gibson

We hosted Richard Matthews, Director of Consultancy & Research at EA Gibson Shipbrokers to discuss Red Sea disruptions and the impact to tanker shipping. Mr. Matthews sees Red Sea disruptions adding up to 2-3% to tonne mile demand factoring shifting trade flows, while supply looks constrained given limited new deliveries or near-term delivery slots. Gibson is broadly positive on 2024 tanker rates with VLCC expected to average US$48k/day and higher rates for mid-sized tankers.

Red Sea disruption: Could boost tanker demand

Last year, around 10% of crude and product tanker flow went through Suez but this is now down to around 3% of flows. Tanker has not fully diverted as the market is much more fragmented with some smaller players willing to take the risk. Insurance cost has increased but is still low relative to the cost of longer distance sailings. Net Red Sea disruptions could add 2-3% to tonne mile demand in 2024 factoring shifting flows. Boost most concentrated for Suezmax and Aframax but VLCC could also benefit from demand cascading.

Supply: Limited new delivery slots ahead

The crude tanker orderbook is low but started to increase in 2H23 particularly for Suezmax and Aframax ships. Right now, there are limited delivery slots available for 2026 with most delivery slots available only for 2027. Green shipping EEXI/CII policies have had a limited impact on tanker speeds so far, while EU ETS costs are being passed through as carbon price remain low.

Demand: Non-OPEC offsetting OPEC cuts

Impact from OPEC production cut was actually smaller than anticipated and Middle East refinery ramp will impact exports, but non-OPEC production should be able to offset some of the negative impact. Chinese imports expected to remain high in 2024. US export expected to remain robust and support the demand. Nigerian refinery capacity has been discussed for some time and expected to go online this year. This will impact demand for the region and Gibson expects lower export from Nigeria.

Rates: Robust 2024 rate outlook

Gibson sees VLCC rates averaging around US$48k/day in 2024 with higher rates during the 1Q/4Q seasonal peaks and potentials for slower rates fading into 2Q/3Q on Red Sea disruptions. Suezmax and Aframax expected to average around low US$50k/day in 2024 but watch upside from Red Sea. Overall fundamentals look positive for 2024 and this outlook could persist into 2025-26.

Important Disclosures

FUNDAMENTAL EQUITY OPINION KEY: Opinions include a Volatility Risk Rating, an Investment Rating and an Income Rating. VOLATILITY RISK RATINGS, indicators of potential price fluctuation, are: A - Low, B - Medium and C - High. INVESTMENT RATINGS reflect the analyst's assessment of both a stock's absolute total return potential as well as its attractiveness for investment relative to other stocks within its Coverage Cluster (defined below). Our investment ratings are: 1 - Buy stocks are expected to have a total return of at least 10% and are the most attractive stocks in the coverage cluster; 2 - Neutral stocks are expected to remain flat or increase in value and are less attractive than Buy rated stocks and 3 - Underperform stocks are the least attractive stocks in a coverage cluster. An investment rating of 6 (No Rating) indicates that a stock is no longer trading on the basis of fundamentals. Analysts assign investment ratings considering, among other things, the 0-12 month total return expectation for a stock and the firm's guidelines for ratings dispersions (shown in the table below). The current price objective for a stock should be referenced to better understand the total return expectation at any given time. The price objective reflects the analyst's view of the potential price appreciation (depreciation).

Investment rating	Total return expectation (within 12-month period of date of initial rating)	Ratings dispersion guidelines for coverage cluster ^{R1}
Buy	≥ 10%	≤ 70%
Neutral	≥ 0%	≤ 30%
Underperform	N/A	≥ 20%

^{R1} Ratings dispersions may vary from time to time where BofA Global Research believes it better reflects the investment prospects of stocks in a Coverage Cluster.

INCOME RATINGS, indicators of potential cash dividends, are: 7 - same/higher (dividend considered to be secure), 8 - same/lower (dividend not considered to be secure) and 9 - pays no cash dividend. Coverage Cluster is comprised of stocks covered by a single analyst or two or more analysts sharing a common industry, sector, region or other classification(s). A stock's coverage cluster is included in the most recent BofA Global Research report referencing the stock.

BofA Global Research personnel (including the analyst(s) responsible for this report) receive compensation based upon, among other factors, the overall profitability of Bank of America Corporation, including profits derived from investment banking.
