4Q23 1st look-EPS beat: Permian delivers, worse of Tengiz over & Hess by mid-year

Maintain Rating: BUY | PO: 190.00 USD | Price: 149.82 USD

EPS beat: Permian production leads strong E&P

CVX's adj EPS of $3.45 beat consensus of $3.21 (range $1.83 - $3.49, BofAe $3.00). As a footnote, this is the first full quarter since closing the PDCE acquisition in Aug-23. Versus our expectations, the primary delta is strong international upstream earnings. Oil & gas production of 3,392 Mboe/d beat street expectations of 3,288 Mboe/d, which we attribute to a rebound in Permian volumes, which reached a quarterly record of 867 Mboe/d. Cash flow from operations (before WC) of $11.4bn matched street consensus (~$11.3bn) with CVX generating $7.1bn in free cash flow that fully covered dividends and share buy backs of $2.8bn and $3.4bn, respectively (note buy back guidance was ~$3bn). Net debt nudged lower to $12.6bn from $14.6bn with a net debt ratio of ~7.3%. Headline EPS of $1.22 included a variety of one-time items, the largest of which are two preannounced charges in January.

HES close at mid-year: Permian growth 10%

After what was perceived to be a challenging quarter in 3Q24, Permian production bounced back, with a new record of 867,000 boepd and plans to exit 2024 at 900,000 boepd. However, with a DUC build in 4Q, guidance suggests a 2% - 4% decline in 1H24 before picking up in the 2nd half with an exit rate of 900 Mboe/d. Management's target to reach 1 MMboe/d by 2025 is unchanged. CVX's previously announced 2024 budget is unchanged with cash and total spending of $16bn and $19bn respectively. Please note this excludes the pending acquisition of HES, which it expects to close around mid-year. Comments on the timing of closing point to the FTC's second request as the reason it has not yet filed an S-4. Post the deal, management has previously indicated that it expects organic annual cash capex to be in the range of $19bn - $22bn (consistent with Hess' guidance of $4.2bn). For production, CVX expects 4-7% yoy growth, which includes expected set sales of ~30 Mboe /d and is led by 10% Permian growth. Please note CVX did call out a few guidance items for 1Q24 including ($250) - (350mm) in refinery turnarounds (at Pascagoula) and a ~70 Mboe / d production impact from the cold January temperatures. A detailed review of Tengiz suggest the worst of execution difficulties has passed with an expected startup in 2Q24.

Maintain Buy as HES deal resets investment case

In our view, 4Q23 draws a line under the challenges CVX faced in 3Q23. Looking forward we see the pending acquisition of HES reset its investment case, led by visibility on future dividend capacity but also significant opportunities for portfolio high grading: in our view, management's estimate of ~$15bn of post-acquisition asset sales has significant upside that we expect to include Hess' Malaysia assets. With the shares having not fully recovered from the Tengiz problems in 3Q23, we continue to view CVX relative investment case with a rate of change in FcF that can support l/term dividend growth and drive market recognition of value. Please note ahead of results, HES standalone quarterly results were announced on January 31st, where, in our view, the primary takeaway is a production and cash flow beat that further supports what we see as a more attractive pro forma CVX trajectory. Our $190 PO remains unchanged assuming long-term $75 Brent / $4 HH and an approximately 8% WACC.

BofA GLOBAL RESEARCH

Price objective basis & risk

Chevron Corp. (CVX)

Our price objective of $190/sh assumes $75 Brent and $70 WTI long-term. We assume long-term HH natural gas of $4.00. We apply a long-term (post-tax) weighted average cost of capital (WACC) of 7.7%, which is based on the BofA Strategy team's assumed risk premium and a five-year monthly beta.

The risks to our price objective are: (1) commodity price volatility, (2) operational execution particularly on new projects, and (3) inability to capture the price environment due to cost pressures (opex, capex and taxation), unseen integration issues with the recently announced acquisition. Upside risks to our price objective are higher oil prices and lower cap ex spending.

FUNDAMENTAL EQUITY OPINION KEY: Opinions include a Volatility Risk Rating, an Investment Rating and an Income Rating. VOLATILITY RISK RATINGS, indicators of potential price fluctuation, are: A - Low, B - Medium and C - High. INVESTMENT RATINGS reflect the analyst's assessment of both a stock's absolute total return potential as well as its attractiveness for investment relative to other stocks within its Coverage Cluster (defined below). Our investment ratings are: 1 - Buy stocks are expected to have a total return of at least 10% and are the most attractive stocks in the coverage cluster; 2 - Neutral stocks are expected to remain flat or increase in value and are less attractive than Buy rated stocks and 3 - Underperform stocks are the least attractive stocks in a coverage cluster. An investment rating of 6 (No Rating) indicates that a stock is no longer trading on the basis of fundamentals. Analysts assign investment ratings considering, among other things, the 0-12 month total return expectation for a stock and the firm's guidelines for ratings dispersions (shown in the table below). The current price objective for a stock should be referenced to better understand the total return expectation at any given time. The price objective reflects the analyst's view of the potential price appreciation (depreciation).

Buy	≥ 10%	≤ 70%

^{R2} Ratings dispersions may vary from time to time where BofA Global Research believes it better reflects the investment prospects of stocks in a Coverage Cluster.

INCOME RATINGS, indicators of potential cash dividends, are: 7 - same/higher (dividend considered to be secure), 8 - same/lower (dividend not considered to be secure) and 9 - pays no cash dividend. Coverage Cluster is comprised of stocks covered by a single analyst or two or more analysts sharing a common industry, sector, region or other classification(s). A stock's coverage cluster is included in the most recent BofA Global Research report referencing the stock.

BofA ESGMeter Methodology:

ESGMeter is a proprietary metric based on quantitative analysis and fundamental analyst inputs that reflects our assessment of a company's Environmental, Social and Governance-related attributes. The ESGMeter is intended to indicate a company's likelihood of experiencing stronger financial stability (higher return on equity and lower earnings and price volatility) over the next three years relative to peer group. There are three ESGMeter levels - Low, Medium, and High - which indicate whether a company has attributes most likely to translate into superior financial stability (in the case of a High level) or weaker financial stability (in the case of a Low level) over the next three years relative to its peer group. A Medium level suggests that a company exhibits ESG characteristics that are likely associated with financial stability results in line with its peer group over the next three years. Full details of our methodology, financial stability definition and disclaimers are available at BofA ESGMeter methodology. ESGMeter is not indicative of a company's future stock price performance and is not an investment recommendation or rating. ESGMeter is independent of the BofA Global Research fundamental equity analyst's investment rating, volatility risk rating, income rating or price objective for that company.

Certain outstanding reports or investment opinions relating to securities, financial instruments and/or issuers may no longer be current. Always refer to the most recent research report relating to an issuer prior to making an investment decision.

In some cases, an issuer may be classified as Restricted or may be Under Review or Extended Review. In each case, investors should consider any investment opinion relating to such issuer (or its security and/or financial instruments) to be suspended or withdrawn and should not rely on the analyses and investment opinion(s) pertaining to such issuer (or its securities and/or financial instruments) nor should the analyses or opinion(s) be considered a solicitation of any kind. Sales persons and financial advisors affiliated with BofAS or any of its affiliates may not solicit purchases of securities or financial instruments that are Restricted or Under Review and may only solicit securities under Extended Review in accordance with firm policies.
