

Alector, Inc

Keeping INVOKE-2 top of mind ahead of phase 2 data: Thoughts post the 4Q23 call

Reiterate Rating: NEUTRAL | PO: 9.00 USD | Price: 7.01 USD

ABC writes next chapter as clinical progress continues

Alector announced a 4Q23 update with a focus on clinical development of the PGRN pipeline programs (AL001 and AL101) and the TREM2 program (AL002). With the phase 2 INVOKE-2 update expected in 4Q24, we look for signs of stabilization of CDR-SB from AL002 treatment in patients with early Alzheimer's and we note the totality of the clinical data will be important to show potential for differentiation. As discussed in the recent R&D day \(see report\), we think AL002 could address a large population with significant unmet need, and we look for additional derisking data along with further details on potential combination uses. Beyond AL002 we also look for the company to collect and eventually present the phase 3 trial data from the INFRONT-3 trial which is expected 4Q25. We currently model $391M risk-adj. peak sales (50% PoS) for AL001 in FTD-GRN patients. Given the ongoing clinical programs which are still relatively far from derisking data we reiterate Neutral PO $9.

Progress remains on track with late stage data nearing

Alector remains on track to collect and present clinical data from the main pipeline programs with data from the INFRONT-3 trial evaluating AL001 in FTD-GRN in 4Q25 and INVOKE-2 evaluating AL002 in early AD in 4Q24. With enrollment initiated in the PROGRESS-AD trial for AL101 and early stage research ongoing, including the Alector Brain Carrier (ABC) technology, we look for continued progress and derisking data to add to our model.

Derisking data on deck with AL002 update in 4Q24

As the closest data event for Alector, we focus on the AL002 INVOKE-2 readout from the company for 2024 to continue to define the impact of the immuno-neurology candidate on neurodegenerative disease. A positive outcome from the INVOKE-2 trial could also trigger a $250M milestone payment from AbbVie in early 2025 along with $237.5M in potential additional milestones and a global 50-50 profit share for AL002 if approved. We currently model $668M risk-adj. peak sales for AL002 (15% PoS).

Model Updates

We update our model for 4Q23 reporting, and we now model 2024 and 2025 EPS of -$2.21 (from -$2.50) and -$1.58 (from -$1.87), respectively. Alector has $620M in cash and cash equivalents after the January 2024 equity offering and a cash runway into through 2026. See our catalyst calendar below (Exhibit 1):

Company Sector

Biotechnology

Company Description

Alector, Inc (ALEC) is a clinical-stage biopharma company developing treatments in neurodegenerative diseases. Based in San Francisco, ALEC clinical assets are differentiated from competitors as target indications have high unmet need for disease modifying therapies. Lead asset AL001 is in development for fronto-temporal dementia and AbbVie-partnered AL002 asset is for Alzheimer's. The company also has early pipeline in development for immuno-neurology and immuno-oncology.

Investment Rationale

We rate ALEC shares Neutral. We believe the potential opportunity for its FTD and AD programs is significant but will take significant time to generate data. Upside could come from positive data from its clinical-stage assets and potential accelerated path to approval.

Price objective basis & risk

Alector, Inc (ALEC)

Our sum-of-the-parts NPV PO of $9 for Alector includes $1/sh for AL001 in FTD, $2/sh for AL002 in AD. The remaining value in our PO comes from cash. We use a 15% WACC and assume a -5% terminal growth rate.

Upside risks are 1) positive data from clinical-stage programs in FTD and AD, 2) potential accelerated path to approval from the FDA, and 3) positive data from early stage assets.

Downside risks are 1) failure to show benefits in target indications in clinical studies, 2) slower-than-expected enrollment for its pivotal studies, and 3) visibility need on pricing assumptions.

FUNDAMENTAL EQUITY OPINION KEY: Opinions include a Volatility Risk Rating, an Investment Rating and an Income Rating. VOLATILITY RISK RATINGS, indicators of potential price fluctuation, are: A - Low, B - Medium and C - High. INVESTMENT RATINGS reflect the analyst’s assessment of both a stock’s absolute total return potential as well as its attractiveness for investment relative to other stocks within its Coverage Cluster (defined below). Our investment ratings are: 1 - Buy stocks are expected to have a total return of at least 10% and are the most attractive stocks in the coverage cluster; 2 - Neutral stocks are expected to remain flat or increase in value and are less attractive than Buy rated stocks and 3 - Underperform stocks are the least attractive stocks in a coverage cluster. An investment rating of 6 (No Rating) indicates that a stock is no longer trading on the basis of fundamentals. Analysts assign investment ratings considering, among other things, the 0-12 month total return expectation for a stock and the firm’s guidelines for ratings dispersions (shown in the table below). The current price objective for a stock should be referenced to better understand the total return expectation at any given time. The price objective reflects the analyst’s view of the potential price appreciation (depreciation).

Investment rating	Total return expectation (within 12-month period of date of initial rating)	Ratings dispersion guidelines for coverage cluster ^{R2}
Buy	≥ 10%	≤ 70%
Neutral	≥ 0%	≤ 30%
Underperform	N/A	≥ 20%

^{R2} Ratings dispersions may vary from time to time where BofA Global Research believes it better reflects the investment prospects of stocks in a Coverage Cluster.

INCOME RATINGS, indicators of potential cash dividends, are: 7 - same/higher (dividend considered to be secure), 8 - same/lower (dividend not considered to be secure) and 9 - pays no cash dividend. Coverage Cluster is comprised of stocks covered by a single analyst or two or more analysts sharing a common industry, sector, region or other classification(s). A stock’s coverage cluster is included in the most recent BofA Global Research report referencing the stock.

BoFA ESGMeter Methodology:

ESGMeter is a proprietary metric based on quantitative analysis and fundamental analyst inputs that reflects our assessment of a company's Environmental, Social and Governance-related attributes. The ESGMeter is intended to indicate a company's likelihood of experiencing stronger financial stability (higher return on equity and lower earnings and price volatility) over the next three years relative to peer group. There are three ESGMeter levels - Low, Medium, and High - which indicate whether a company has attributes most likely to translate into superior financial stability (in the case of a High level) or weaker financial stability (in the case of a Low level) over the next three years relative to its peer group. A Medium level suggests that a company exhibits ESG characteristics that are likely associated with financial stability results in line with its peer group over the next three years. Full details of our methodology, financial stability definition and disclaimers are available at BoFA ESGMeter methodology. ESGMeter is not indicative of a company's future stock price performance and is not an investment recommendation or rating. ESGMeter is independent of the BoFA Global Research fundamental equity analyst's investment rating, volatility risk rating, income rating or price objective for that company.
