4Q23 negative pre-announcement on logistics challenges look MTD specific

Maintain Rating: NEUTRAL | PO: 1,225.00 USD | Price: 1,149.32 USD

Prelim 4Q sales of -13% LC (-5% miss); EPS guide pulled

Today, after market close Mettler-Toledo (MTD) announced preliminary 4Q23 results that came in below guidance and BofAe/Street forecasts. 4Q sales are expected to decline by approximately -13% on a Local Currency (LC) basis, vs BofAe & Street (Visible Alpha) -8% and company guidance for -7% to -8%. As a result, MTD has withdrawn its previous FY23 Adj EPS guide for $39.10-$39.30 (vs. BofAe/Street $39.20/$39.26).

Issues appear to be MTD specific and transient

The miss seems to be a MTD specific issue and not market driven. The shortfall was attributed to challenges with onboarding a new European logistics provider. MTD has three logistics hubs, one in the US, Europe, and China. Products made in these regions are shipped to these hubs from global distribution, but the company's European hub relies heavily on third-party logistics providers. Throughout 2023 MTD had been in the process of transitioning its European logistics vendor, and while ~70% of the transition was complete by the end of 3Q, the vendor was unable to complete the required infrastructure buildouts on time, leading to the shortfall. Given the nature of the miss, we don't see this as a sign of larger industry-wide issue (i.e., customer spending trends or international trade challenges). We expect greater clarity during MTD's investor conference presentation on 01/10. That said, MTD noted in the press release that the lost 4Q23 revenues would be largely recouped in 1Q24. This implies that revenue forecasts for FY24 could move higher by an incremental ~1-2% vs. guidance for roughly flat LC sales growth.

Maintain Neutral with more moving pieces in mix

We maintain our estimates as we look for any additional color during the company's upcoming conference presentation. MTD's initial FY24 outlook appeared to be not entirely de-risked given current industry headwinds, (see post F3Q NDR recap note here), as well as the company's premium valuation, and we maintain our Neutral rating.

Price objective basis & risk

Mettler-Toledo (MTD)

Our $1,225 PO is based on about 21x our 2025 EV/EBITDA estimate, which is in line with the company's historical premium to the Life Sciences & Diagnostics Tools peer group over the last three years. We think that this premium multiple is justified given the company's strong brand, growth profile, operational excellence, and strong track record of execution.

Downside risks to our PO are a weaker global economy (especially in Asia), trade disputes, slower than expected expansion into new markets, competition, a protracted global slowdown from the Coronavirus outbreak, and unfavorable currency swings.

Upside risks to our PO are stronger-than-expected global growth, more aggressive share repurchases, and operational efforts to support EPS growth.

FUNDAMENTAL EQUITY OPINION KEY: Opinions include a Volatility Risk Rating, an Investment Rating and an Income Rating. VOLATILITY RISK RATINGS, indicators of potential price fluctuation, are: A - Low, B - Medium and C - High. INVESTMENT RATINGS reflect the analyst's assessment of both a stock's absolute total return potential as well as its attractiveness for investment relative to other stocks within its Coverage Cluster (defined below). Our investment ratings are: 1 - Buy stocks are expected to have a total return of at least 10% and are the most attractive stocks in the coverage cluster; 2 - Neutral stocks are expected to remain flat or increase in value and are less attractive than Buy rated stocks and 3 - Underperform stocks are the least attractive stocks in a coverage cluster. An investment rating of 6 (No Rating) indicates that a stock is no longer trading on the basis of fundamentals. Analysts assign investment ratings considering, among other things, the 0-12 month total return expectation for a stock and the firm's guidelines for ratings dispersions (shown in the table below). The current price objective for a stock should be referenced to better understand the total return expectation at any given time. The price objective reflects the analyst's view of the potential price appreciation (depreciation).

Investment rating	Total return expectation (within 12-month period of date of initial rating)	Ratings dispersion guidelines for coverage cluster ^{R2}
Buy	≥ 10%	≤ 70%
Neutral	≥ 0%	≤ 30%
Underperform	N/A	≥ 20%

^{R2} Ratings dispersions may vary from time to time where BofA Global Research believes it better reflects the investment prospects of stocks in a Coverage Cluster.

INCOME RATINGS, indicators of potential cash dividends, are: 7 - same/higher (dividend considered to be secure), 8 - same/lower (dividend not considered to be secure) and 9 - pays no cash dividend. Coverage Cluster is comprised of stocks covered by a single analyst or two or more analysts sharing a common industry, sector, region or other classification(s). A stock's coverage cluster is included in the most recent BofA Global Research report referencing the stock.

BofA ESGMeter Methodology:

ESGMeter is a proprietary metric based on quantitative analysis and fundamental analyst inputs that reflects our assessment of a company's Environmental, Social and Governance-related attributes. The ESGMeter is intended to indicate a company's likelihood of experiencing stronger financial stability (higher return on equity and lower earnings and price volatility) over the next three years relative to peer group. There are three ESGMeter levels - Low, Medium, and High - which indicate whether a company has attributes most likely to translate into superior financial stability (in the case of a High level) or weaker financial stability (in the case of a Low level) over the next three years relative to its peer group. A Medium level suggests that a company exhibits ESG characteristics that are likely associated with financial stability results in line with its peer group over the next three years. Full details of our methodology, financial stability definition and disclaimers are available at BofA ESGMeter methodology. ESGMeter is not indicative of a company's future stock price performance and is not an investment recommendation or rating. ESGMeter is independent of the BofA Global Research fundamental equity analyst's investment rating, volatility risk rating, income rating or price objective for that company.
