Conference takeaways: Confident in path to more margin improvement

Maintain Rating: BUY | PO: 207.00 USD | Price: 182.81 USD

F25 op margin target of 15% ccy remains achievable

We hosted Jane Nielsen, CFO and COO for investor meetings at our consumer conference in Miami. We maintain our Buy rating and remain confident that RL will be able to achieve its operating margin target of 15% ccy, inclusive of both gross margin expansion and SG&A leverage by F25. Importantly, the company remains on track to successfully achieve its $400mn gross cost savings program over this same time frame, with the last 1/3 of cost savings expected to be skewed toward SG&A. No change of our forecast for operating margins to expand 120bp in F25 to 13.6% (or 15.3% ccy).

More gross margin levers to pull

We expect AUR growth will normalize to the mid to high single digit range compared to the 9-10% growth over the last two quarters. We remain confident as AUR should continue to benefit from geographic mix (Asia AUR 60% higher than US), channel mix (although we estimate DTC remains dilutive to operating margins), product mix, and potential for lower promos given advancements on personalization and cleaner inventory. Moreover, we expect RL will recoup just under 200bp from lower cotton costs over the next two years, with the benefit improving throughout the two years.

International strength should continue

We came away confident about the health of the core RL consumer globally despite the various geopolitical and macro uncertainties. In Asia, we expect growth will continue to be led by China (currently 7% of the global business) and remain encouraged by positive trends in Korea and Japan. In Europe, mgmt kept its cautious tone, but acknowledged they have been surprised by the resilience of the European consumer. During the holiday, RL saw strong results in key markets like Germany, France, and Italy and called out some weakness in the UK. In EU wholesale, RL has been gaining share.

North America: wholesale mixed, retail showing strength

Mgmt confirmed expectations for sell in and sell out trends in North America to converge in F4Q (we forecast North America wholesale down 5%) compared to the disparity seen in F3Q (sell in down 15%, sell out down 5%). RL continues to invest in its top 100 doors. In terms of the retail business, we expect the trend of positive comps will continue. Mgmt noted investments in service, leaning more into core product, and improved marketing have all contributed to the improvement in the US retail business.

Company Description

Ralph Lauren designs and distributes apparel, accessories, housewares and fragrances through wholesale department stores, specialty stores, retail stores and online.

Investment Rationale

We think the shares are attractively valued given our confidence in strong revenue trends continuing given the brand's global diversification and management's ability to pull cost levers in this environment.

Price objective basis & risk

Ralph Lauren (RL)

Our PO of $207 is based on 11x FY25E EV/EBITDA, slightly higher than peers due stronger margins and sales growth. We think RL should trade at a slight premium to peers given its long-term brand value, strong balance sheet, and stronger margins.

Upside risks to our PO are a faster-than-expected sales turnaround, higher-than-expected benefits from ongoing cost savings initiatives, and significant improvements in the overall global apparel retail environment. Downside risks are worse-than-expected trends at wholesale, incremental US department store closures, higher-than-expected reinvestment spending, and deterioration in the global macro environment.

R1 Issuers that were investment banking clients of BofA Securities or one of its affiliates within the past 12 months. For purposes of this Investment Rating Distribution, the coverage universe includes only stocks. A stock rated Neutral is included as a Hold, and a stock rated Underperform is included as a Sell.

FUNDAMENTAL EQUITY OPINION KEY: Opinions include a Volatility Risk Rating, an Investment Rating and an Income Rating. VOLATILITY RISK RATINGS, indicators of potential price fluctuation, are: A - Low, B - Medium and C - High. INVESTMENT RATINGS reflect the analyst's assessment of both a stock's absolute total return potential as well as its attractiveness for investment relative to other stocks within its Coverage Cluster (defined below). Our investment ratings are: 1 - Buy stocks are expected to have a total return of at least 10% and are the most attractive stocks in the coverage cluster; 2 - Neutral stocks are expected to remain flat or increase in value and are less attractive than Buy rated stocks and 3 - Underperform stocks are the least attractive stocks in a coverage cluster. An investment rating of 6 (No Rating) indicates that a stock is no longer trading on the basis of fundamentals. Analysts assign investment ratings considering, among other things, the 0-12 month total return expectation for a stock and the firm's guidelines for ratings dispersions (shown in the table below). The current price objective for a stock should be referenced to better understand the total return expectation at any given time. The price objective reflects the analyst's view of the potential price appreciation (depreciation).

Investment rating Total return expectation (within 12-month period of date of initial rating) Ratings dispersion guidelines for coverage cluster<sup>R2</sup>

| Buy         | ≥ 10% | ≤ 70% |
|-------------|-------|-------|
| Neutral     | ≥ 0%  | ≤ 30% |
| nderperform | N/A   | ≥ 20% |

R2Ratings dispersions may vary from time to time where BofA Global Research believes it better reflects the investment prospects of stocks in a Coverage Cluster.

INCOME RATINGS, indicators of potential cash dividends, are: 7 - same/higher (dividend considered to be secure), 8 - same/lower (dividend not considered to be secure) and 9 - pays no cash dividend. Coverage Cluster is comprised of stocks covered by a single analyst or two or more analysts sharing a common industry, sector, region or other classification(s). A stock's coverage cluster is included in the most recent BofA Global Research report referencing the stock.

BofA ESGMeter Methodology:

ESGMeter is a proprietary metric based on quantitative analysis and fundamental analyst inputs that reflects our assessment of a company's Environmental, Social and Governance-related attributes. The ESGMeter is intended to indicate a company's likelihood of experiencing stronger financial stability (higher return on equity and lower earnings and price volatility) over the next three years relative to peer group. There are three ESGMeter levels - Low, Medium, and High - which indicate whether a company has attributes most likely to translate into superior financial stability (in the case of a High level) or weaker financial stability (in the case of a Low level) over the next three years relative to its peer group. A Medium level suggests that a company exhibits ESG characteristics that are likely associated with financial stability results in line with its peer group over the next three years. Full details of our methodology, financial stability definition and disclaimers are available at BofA ESGMeter methodology. ESGMeter is not indicative of a company's future stock price performance and is not an investment recommendation or rating. ESGMeter is independent of the BofA Global Research fundamental equity analyst's investment rating, volatility risk rating, income rating or price objective for that company.
