4Q23 earnings recap: inflection in free cashflow to accelerate in 2024

Reiterate Rating: BUY | PO: 140.00 USD | Price: 101.97 USD

2024 to see step change in project contribution to FcF

Contrasting the earnings calls between ExxonMobil (XOM) and Chevron (CVX), at the simplest level, we see the difference in the tone of the Q&A underlining what has been a strong execution story. XOM has now doubled its earnings capacity vs a 2019 baseline, and we expect the project contribution to FcF to accelerate in 2024 led by Guyana at a pace that should position XOM to beat its target to double cashflow by 2027 vs a 2019 baseline. Over the next 18 months, our estimates suggest XOM will add the equivalent of ~80% of its pro-forma dividend burden, including the presumed closure of its pending Permian acquisition, which management expects in 2Q23. With a sector outlook we have characterized as rangebound, with a backward forward curve a headwind to absolute value, we see the timing of XOM's inflection in FcF as a critical differentiator vs the broader sector, and European peers in particular. Our rating is Buy, PO $140/sh.

Upwards reset in dividend capacity accelerates in 2024

By our analysis, the combination of organic growth and timing of strategic acquisitions pulls XOM's post dividend breakeven towards $40 Brent, addressing CFO Kathy Mickell's overriding philosophy when joining XOM in 2021 that its dividend burden vs cashflow capacity needed to be reset. We expect XOM to get there in 2024, setting up the balance of the period through 2027 for a similar reset in the rate of dividend growth, that we see as the primary mechanism for market recognition of value. With share buybacks also expected to be reset post close to an annual rate of $20bn, we believe XOM's per share growth has the potential to be best in class amongst major oil peers.

EPS beat on strong E&P vols; Guyana hits record prod

ExxonMobil adj EPS of $2.48/sh beat street estimates / BofAe of $2.23 & 2.22 on strong upstream and downstream (product solutions) results. Upstream earnings of $6.3bn beat BofAe of $5.7bn on strong oil and gas production (3.8mm boepd vs 3.67mm boepd), mainly on the Permian & Canada. Product solution result of $3.1bn handily beat our $2.1bn estimate, repeating the strength of refiner earnings so far. C/flow from operations (ex w/c of -$2.2bn & asset sales $1.0bn) of $15.9bn beat consensus at $14bn. Free cashflow $8.0bn after cash capex of $6.7bn, fully covered dividends of $3.8bn and buybacks of $4.4bn.

Company Description

ExxonMobil (XOM) is the world's largest international integrated oil and gas company with average 2021 production of 3.71 mmboepd, the world's largest refining system with 4.57 kbpd of crude capacity, and one of the largest and most profitable chemical manufacturers. XOM consistently demonstrates disciplined investing, operational excellence and technological innovation.

Investment Rationale

We believe ExxonMobil is poised for a relative recovery after several years of lagging performance. The starting point is a step change in upstream portfolio leverage that we believe has been masked by the collapse in oil prices. Since 2013, XOM has started over 30 major projects with improved cash margins versus the legacy base business, and enabled by higher oil leverage that was masked by the coincident drop in oil prices.

XOM 4Q23 Earnings

Inflection in free cashflow to accelerate in 2024

Contrasting the earnings calls between XOM and CVX at the simplest level, we see the difference in the tone of the Q&A underlining what has been a strong execution story, ex the impact of COVID. XOM has now doubled its earnings capacity versus its 2019 baseline: but the contribution to free cashflow should accelerate in 2024 led by Guyana with the pace ahead of schedule. In our view XOM can more than deliver on its target to double cashflow by 2027. 4Q23 earnings handily beat street estimates: but it is capex slightly ahead of guidance and associated commentary of being 'slightly ahead' of plan that reinforces our belief that the 18-month window between Nov 23 & Apr-25 will see XOM add the equivalent of ~80% of its pro-forma dividend burden, including closure of its Permian acquisition which management expects in 2Q23.

Payara reached full capacity of 220,000 bpd, 8 weeks after start-up on Nov 14^{th} . At $75 WTI, XOM's share of c/flow is $2.3bn. In our view, capex ahead of plan in 4Q23, including the acquisition of the Lisa 2 FPSO keeps the pace of project delivery in Guyana ahead of target with the 250,000 bpd Yellowtail (Phase 4) and Uaru (Phase 5) developments due on-line in 2025 & 2026 respectively. In our view, a first quarter 2025 start for Phase 4 looks increasingly likely, adding $2.7bn net to XOM's share of cashflow. With momentum building from multiple project starts across its product solutions business, followed by Goldenpass, Bacalhau and continued growth in the Permian, we see XOM's organic free cashflow growth approaching $8bn on annualized basis over the next 18 months.

Then there is the contribution from its pending Permian acquisition, which by our estimates lifts incremental annualized free cashflow above $13bn versus its pro-forma dividend of $16.5bn. Viewed differently, we see XOM's combination of organic growth and timing of strategic acquisitions, pulling its post dividend break even towards $40 Brent, and addressing CFO's Kathy Mickell's overriding philosophy when joining XOM in August 2022 that its dividend burden versus cashflow capacity needed to be reset. In our view, XOM gets there in 2024, setting up the balance of the period through 2027 for a similar reset in the rate of dividend growth, that we see as the primary mechanism for market recognition of value. With share buy backs also expected to be reset post close, to an annual rate of $20bn, we believe XOM's per share growth has the potential to be best in class amongst major oil peers. With a sector outlook we have characterized as rangebound, with a backward forward curve a headwind to absolute value, we see the timing of XOM's inflection in free cashflow as a critical differentiator vs the broader sector, and European peers in particular. Our rating on XOM remains at Buy, PO $140/sh.

Earnings highlights

ExxonMobil adj EPS of $2.48/sh beat Street estimates / BofAe of $2.23 & 2.22 with both upstream and downstream (product solutions) segments ahead of our estimates. Oil & gas production of 3.8mm boepd topped our estimate of 3.67mm boepd. C/flow from operations (ex w/c of -$2.2bn & asset sales $1.0bn) of $15.9bn beat consensus at $14bn. A working capital use of $2.2bn, and disposals of $1bn left free cashflow $8.0bn after cash capex of $6.7bn, fully covering dividends of $3.84bn and buybacks of $4.37bn. key takeaways from the quarter can otherwise be summarized as follows:

- Upstream: The E&P segment had a sizeable beat vs consensus and BofAe, mainly on corporate oil & gas production of 3,824 (BofAe 3,670 mboed), which implies a 4% sequential growth, and flat YoY net of disposals. With potential upside coming from the pending acquisition, 4Q23 volumes grew sequentially by 25 mboed (+5% QoQ) to 620,000 bpd (vs 600,000 bpd guidance), posting another record quarter for the asset, as it solidifies as a key cashflow generating asset for the company in its quest for 2027 FCF targets. The crown jewel of the company's growth outlook in Guyana continues to beat projected timing with Payara at full nameplate capacity of 220,000 bpd in mid Jan. Gross 4Q23 production hit 440,000 bpd, but by our estimates throughout the year it could reach around 600,000 bpd. Looking forward, we read XOM's comment of 'opportunistic' acceleration of capex as an indication that progress on subsequent phases is moving quickly: we continue to expect phase 4 (Yellowtail, 250,000 bpd) start up at the turn of the year.
- Refining & Chemicals: Product solutions results of $3.1bn handily beat our $2.1bn estimate, repeating the strength refiners have shown in earning season so far, and as refining margins return to the 10-yr average driven by a seasonal decline in demand. On the other hand, Chemical margins, which improved sequentially but are still well below the 10-yr average lifted earnings by an additional $1.32bn, up sequentially ~$500mm.
- LCS: Low Carbon Solution efforts by XOM keep on piling up with its recently announced Mobil™ Lithium business, which plans to use as market penetration into the EV battery business. Key strides have been made over the past year, as it begins operations in Arkansas, an area known to hold significant lithium deposits.

BofA GLOBAL RESEARCH

Price objective basis & risk

ExxonMobil Corp. (XOM)

Our price objective of $140/sh assumes $75 Brent and $70 WTI long-term. We assume long-term HH natural gas of $4.00. We apply a long-term (post-tax) weighted average cost of capital (WACC) of 7.4%, which is based on the BofA strategy team's assumed risk premium and a five-year monthly beta.

The risks to our price objective are (1) the oil and gas price and margin environment, (2) significant delays to the new upstream projects critical to its growth targets, and (3) inability to capture the price environment due to cost pressures (opex, capex, and taxation). Upside risks to our price objective are higher oil & gas prices.

FUNDAMENTAL EQUITY OPINION KEY: Opinions include a Volatility Risk Rating, an Investment Rating and an Income Rating. VOLATILITY RISK RATINGS, indicators of potential price fluctuation, are: A - Low, B - Medium and C - High. INVESTMENT RATINGS reflect the analyst's assessment of both a stock's absolute total return potential as well as its attractiveness for investment relative to other stocks within its Coverage Cluster (defined below). Our investment ratings are: 1 - Buy stocks are expected to have a total return of at least 10% and are the most attractive stocks in the coverage cluster; 2 - Neutral stocks are expected to remain flat or increase in value and are less attractive than Buy rated stocks and 3 - Underperform stocks are the least attractive stocks in a coverage cluster. An investment rating of 6 (No Rating) indicates that a stock is no longer trading on the basis of fundamentals. Analysts assign investment ratings considering, among other things, the 0-12 month total return expectation for a stock and the firm's guidelines for ratings dispersions (shown in the table below). The current price objective for a stock should be referenced to better understand the total return expectation at any given time. The price objective reflects the analyst's view of the potential price appreciation (depreciation).

Investment rating Total return expectation (within 12-month period of date of initial rating) Ratings dispersion guidelines for coverage cluster^{R2}

Buy	≥ 10%	≤ 70%
Neutral	≥ 0%	≤ 30%
Jnderperform	N/A	≥ 20%

R2Ratings dispersions may vary from time to time where BofA Global Research believes it better reflects the investment prospects of stocks in a Coverage Cluster.

INCOME RATINGS, indicators of potential cash dividends, are: 7 - same/higher (dividend considered to be secure), 8 - same/lower (dividend not considered to be secure) and 9 - pays no cash dividend. Coverage Cluster is comprised of stocks covered by a single analyst or two or more analysts sharing a common industry, sector, region or other classification(s). BofA ESGMeter Methodology:

ESGMeter is a proprietary metric based on quantitative analysis and fundamental analyst inputs that reflects our assessment of a company's Environmental, Social and Governance-related attributes. The ESGMeter is intended to indicate a company's likelihood of experiencing stronger financial stability (higher return on equity and lower earnings and price volatility) over the next three years relative to peer group. There are three ESGMeter levels - Low, Medium, and High - which indicate whether a company has attributes most likely to translate into superior financial stability (in the case of a High level) or weaker financial stability (in the case of a Low level) over the next three years relative to its peer group. A Medium level suggests that a company exhibits ESG characteristics that are likely associated with financial stability results in line with its peer group over the next three years. Full details of our methodology, financial stability definition and disclaimers are available at BofA ESGMeter methodology. ESGMeter is not indicative of a company's future stock price performance and is not an investment recommendation or rating. ESGMeter is independent of the BofA Global Research fundamental equity analyst's investment rating, volatility risk rating, income rating or price objective for that company.
