Search Wars: Bing plugin comes to ChatGPT, new AI ad solutions for Google

Maintain Rating: BUY | PO: 128.00 USD | Price: 122.56 USD

Bing plugin comes to ChatGPT enabling Web access

Microsoft announced that ChatGPT will be enabled with a Bing plugin, available to Plus subscribers today and, importantly, coming to free users soon. According to Engadget, ChatGPT will be able to supplement its own models for information, leveraging Bing for more up-to-date answers and to cite the Web. While we think this is an important upgrade to ChatGPT that expands its use case, we still see strong distribution advantages for Google, especially on mobile.

Google increases Al capabilities for advertisers

At Marketing Live, Google announced Al tools to allow advertisers to essentially synthesize a unique text or display ad, in real time, based on the user's query and advertiser data supplied to Google. The tool will reportedly be free for advertisers and should increase relevance/conversions (with AI tools like Performance Max already boosting conversions by 18%, +5pts y/y, per the company). Google also announced several other tools for advertisers utilizing Generative Al for campaign creation and management across Google properties, and provided more demos of ad integration in LLM based search results, addressing an overhang. See more of our takeaways from Google Marketing Live here.

Data update: Mobile in focus since ChatGPT mobile launch

For app downloads through 5/22, Google DL growth is up 4% m/m (1pt decel vs. 5/1) vs. Bing's +24%, and the gap between Google and Bing is 2.4x. ChatGPT iOS app downloads since launch on 5/18 have reached 711k (over 5 days), but have started declining on a d/d basis (-23% d/d). The app is expected to be released on Android and in Intl. markets soon, and we expect app traffic to be closely watched by the Street.

Google's three pillars are still upright; Maintain Buy

Bing integration in ChatGPT may close Google's data advantage, but we still see three important advantages for Google (data, distribution, and Al-based ad technology). With Google continuing to utilize AI to improve its ad products, we reiterate our view that AI can be incrementally positive for Google's market position. Maintain Buy on Google.

Company Sector

Internet/e-Commerce

Company Description

Alphabet is a global technology company focused around key areas, such as search, advertising, operating systems and platforms, enterprise and hardware products. The company generates revenue primarily by delivering online advertising and by selling apps and contents on Google Play as well as hardware products. The company provides its products and services in more than 100 languages and in 190 countries, regions, and territories.

Investment Rationale

We see Alphabet as well positioned long term with leading search technology, Android, and YouTube. Alphabet is an advertising industry leader, and the company should generate incremental revenue growth from increasing mobile usage, video usage, Google Play activity, and connected device activity (including autos). We believe that Alphabet should trade at a premium to a media peer group given technology leadership, high margins, and cash flow for buybacks.

Data update

Seeing little impact on Google search from ChatGPT/Bing activity

For Web traffic, Similarweb daily traffic data through 5/21 continues to indicate that Google traffic remains stable, while Bing has slowed, and ChatGPT traffic seems to be moderating in the 45mn-65mn range. Interestingly, we did not see an increase in web traffic from the ChatGPT app launch on 5/18. For downloads, Bing global downloads remain elevated at approx. 155k-160k per day vs. 100k prior to the late-April rally, though Google global DLs are stable at +4% m/m (vs. +5% on 5/1), suggesting Bing activity is incremental. In the US, Google m/m downloads decelerated from its peak during Google I/O with DLs now flat m/m. As for the ChatGPT launch on mobile, revised Sensor Tower data indicates ChatGPT was cumulatively downloaded 711k times over the past 5 days, a revision from data on 5/21 suggesting DLs reached 711k in 3 days.

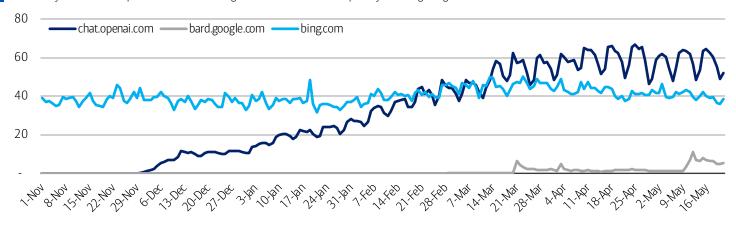

Web Traffic

ChatGPT Web traffic remains above Bing, a small fraction of Google

As of 5/21, on a 7-day moving average, visits to ChatGPT were 58.2mn (-3% m/m) vs. Bing's 38.8mn (-6% m/m). Bard traffic of 6.2mn is up 300% m/m, with increased interest following I/O (+5.1mn incremental visits per day following 5/10) but declining w/w. Bard visits remain well below ChatGPT.

Google Web Traffic remains stable

Daily visits to Google are stable. As of 5/21, Google Web traffic of 2.84bn (+1% m/m) was 73x more than Bing and 49x more than ChatGPT. Increased ChatGPT activity and stable Google trends suggest limited impact from impressive ChatGPT ramp in usage.

Search interest for ChatGPT still elevated

Search interest for "ChatGPT" is volatile but elevated vs. early-2023. Data through 5/19 suggests ChatGPT interest is up just 1% m/m (MTD) despite the app launch. Interest for Bing is down 4% m/m while Bard is now 45% of its 5/12 peak following Google I/O.

Downloads

Global: Google remains steady, suggesting Bing/ChatGPT DLs are incremental

Per Sensor Tower, Bing m/m growth on 5/22 decel'd to +24% from +131% on 5/7 as Bing downloads moderated from late-April/early-May rally. While d/d trends accelerated on ChatGPT's app launch, Bing downloads appear to be stabilizing in the 155k-160k range. Google activity is relatively stable vs. 5/1 at +4% m/m (1pt decel) though US downloads are now flat m/m. Sensor Tower indicates Google global downloads on 5/22 of 393.2k were 2.4x more than Bing's 164.4k and 3.2x more than ChatGPT's downloads of 123.6k. ChatGPT downloads are just US and only on iOS.

On a daily basis, Google download growth appears relatively stable despite increased Bing and ChatGPT activity.

US: Google I/O tailwinds fading, ChatGPT launches in US

Bing US downloads of 19.5k are up 44% m/m, though a decrease from its recent 5/7 peak of 40.5k. As of 5/22, Google downloads reached 77.5k in the US. ChatGPT downloads in the US on 5/22 reached 123.6k, which is 1.6x more than Google, but are decelerating on a d/d basis (-23% d/d on 5/22 vs. -4% d/d prior).

Per Sensor Tower, ChatGPT was cumulatively downloaded 711k times over the first 5 days, with downloads peaking on 5/20 at 167.2k. This is a downward revision from Sensor Tower's Sunday data. On a d/d basis, US trends suggest Google activity remains relatively stable despite increased Bing activity, and benefited from ChatGPT's launch (Google downloads in the US were up 17% d/d on 5/19).

Google vs. Bing Download ratio

Google was downloaded 2.4x more than Bing on 5/22, below the 3.0x-4.5x range in March and early-April, but a recovery from 1.5x earlier in the month. Globally, Google was downloaded 3.2x more than ChatGPT on 5/22, but only 0.6x in the US (ChatGPT is currently only available to iOS users in the US). With >50% of search queries on mobile devices, we think download share will be an important metric now that Chat functionalities are beginning to be introduced on mobile.

Price objective basis & risk

Alphabet (GOOGL / GOOG)

Our price objective of $128/$128 is based on 18x 2024E core Google GAAP EPS plus cash. Alphabet has traded at an average multiple of 23x GAAP P/E over the last ten years and we think our multiple is reasonable vs. history given expectations for slower, but still 10%+ revenue growth in future years.

Risks for the stock are 1) uncertain macro backdrop may impact cloud and network business growth and margins, 2) LLM integration in search may take longer than expected or negatively impact search, 3) query share loss to Bing, 4) concerns related new regulatory framework in the European Digital Markets Act (DMA) and Department of Justice's recent lawsuit challenging Google's ad exchange business, or 5) loss of Samsung and Apple search distribution deals.

FUNDAMENTAL EQUITY OPINION KEY: Opinions include a Volatility Risk Rating, an Investment Rating and an Income Rating. VOLATILITY RISK RATINGS, indicators of potential price fluctuation, are: A - Low, B - Medium and C - High. INVESTMENT RATINGS reflect the analyst's assessment of both a stock's: absolute total return potential as well as its attractiveness for investment relative to other stocks within its Coverage Cluster (defined below). There are three investment ratings: 1 - Buy stocks are expected to have a total return of at least 10% and are the most attractive stocks in the coverage cluster; 2 - Neutral stocks are expected to remain flat or increase in value and are less attractive than Buy rated stocks and 3 - Underperform stocks are the least attractive stocks in a coverage cluster. Analysts assign investment ratings considering, among other things, the 0-12 month total return expectation for a stock and the firm's guidelines for ratings dispersions (shown in the table below). The current price objective for a stock should be referenced to better understand the total return expectation at any given time. The price objective reflects the analyst's view of the potential price appreciation (depreciation).

BofA ESGMeter Methodology:

ESGMeter is a proprietary metric based on quantitative analysis and fundamental analyst inputs that reflects our assessment of a company's Environmental, Social and Governance-related attributes. The ESGMeter is intended to indicate a company's likelihood of experiencing stronger financial stability (higher return on equity and lower earnings and price volatility) over the next three years relative to peer group. There are three ESGMeter levels - Low, Medium, and High - which indicate whether a company has attributes most likely to translate into superior financial stability (in the case of a High level) or weaker financial stability (in the case of a Low level) over the next three years relative to its peer group. A Medium level suggests that a company exhibits ESG characteristics that are likely associated with financial stability results in line with its peer group over the next three years. Full details of our methodology, financial stability definition and disclaimers are available at BofA ESGMeter methodology. ESGMeter is not indicative of a company's future stock price performance and is not an investment recommendation or rating. ESGMeter is independent of the BofA Global Research fundamental equity analyst's investment rating, volatility risk rating, income rating or price objective for that company.
