FY24 guide falls short, but Librela can still drive ZTS to new heights

Reiterate Rating: BUY | PO: 205.00 USD | Price: 183.49 USD

Mixed print as non-op items take a bite from 4Q

Zoetis (ZTS) reported 4Q results, with sales of $2,213mn coming in roughly in-line. Adj OpM of 33.7% was below in part due to a ~100bps headwind from FX and non-op charges, leading to Adj EPS of $1.24 vs BofAe $1.33. See our First Look for more detail.

'24 sales guide strong; EPS tempered as ZTS funds growth

ZTS's FY24 outlook for 7-9% operational revenue growth broadly met expectations given continued momentum across key products. Despite the strong operational growth outlook, ZTS's initial Adj EPS guide of $5.79 at midpoint fell short of consensus. Although optically disappointing, the drivers of the Adj EPS guide shortfall do little to change our core thesis. R&D is now expected to be well above our prior forecast, but we continue to see internal investment as ZTS's best option for capital allocation given its track record of industry leading growth and innovation. SG&A is starting to benefit from leverage on recent investments in sales & marketing infrastructure. Beyond operating factors, we also note FX poses a roughly -12c to -13c headwind to FY24 earnings at current rates.

FY24 set to be another strong year for key product lines

Mgmt. remains constructive on indicators from Librela's U.S launch, and while they did not offer guidance, a solid contribution to FY24 growth was suggested (we still est. ~$250mn in 2024 US sales). Similarly, even with competitors to both Trio and Derm expected in FY24, mgmt. still sees +mid-high single digit growth for each franchise in the coming year. In terms of end-markets, ZTS expects vet clinic visit growth to normalize toward +0%-1%, with increased auto-ship and retail mix helping to offset the impact of clinic capacity constraints. Livestock is seen as more of a mixed bag, with new product benefits counterbalanced by weak OUS macro, resulting in low-single-digit growth.

Trim estimates; Reiterate Buy and $205 PO

ZTS's 4Q results and initial FY24 guide were mixed, with both featuring a strong topline offset by softer margins/EPS. We lower our forecasts to reflect the update and roll our valuation forward to FY25; our PO remains $205 (~31x FY25 P/E, was ~35x FY24). Our view on ZTS is largely unchanged; we still see the company as a clear market leader in an industry with durable secular growth drivers and thus we reiterate our Buy rating.

Company Description

Zoetis is the global leader in the discovery, development, manufacturing, and commercialization of animal health medicines and vaccines for both the production and companion animal markets. Its well-diversified portfolio of over 300 product lines, which spans eight core species and five therapeutic categories, is directly marketed in 70 countries with the industry's largest sales force.

Investment Rationale

We believe Zoetis should benefit from rising demand for companion and production animal health products, particularly in emerging markets, new products and product line extensions, expanding ancillary service offerings, and greater operating and working capital efficiencies.

Opportunistic investments in acquisitions and/or partnerships should supplement growth.

Price objective basis & risk

Zoetis Inc. (ZTS)

Our $205 price objective (PO) is based on 31x our FY25 EPS estimates. This is roughly in-line with the historic ZTS multiple, which we believe is justified given upside from new product launches and incremental capital deployment, further margin expansion opportunity, and the defensive nature of the business, as well as reflects the near-term headwinds due to the Coronavirus outbreak.

Upside risks are continued ramp of new products, larger-than-expected contribution from future and ongoing launches, and accelerating growth from Abaxis acquisition.

Downside risks to our price objective are continued challenges from ongoing Coronavirus outbreak, competition in select markets or new product launches by competitors, weaker demand for animal health products, regulatory issues such as failure to get approval of key products in the pipeline, macroeconomic conditions, currency risks, and headwinds related to regulations of antibiotic use in animal feed additives.

VOLATILITY RISK RATINGS, indicators of potential price fluctuation, are: A - Low, B - Medium and C - High. INVESTMENT RATINGS reflect the analyst's assessment of both a stock's absolute total return potential as well as its attractiveness for investment relative to other stocks within its Coverage Cluster (defined below). Our investment ratings are: 1 - Buy stocks are expected to have a total return of at least 10% and are the most attractive stocks in the coverage cluster; 2 - Neutral stocks are expected to remain flat or increase in value and are less attractive than Buy rated stocks and 3 - Underperform stocks are the least attractive stocks in a coverage cluster. An investment rating of 6 (No Rating) indicates that a stock is no longer trading on the basis of fundamentals. Analysts assign investment ratings considering, among other things, the 0-12 month total return expectation for a stock and the firm's guidelines for ratings dispersions (shown in the table below). The current price objective for a stock should be referenced to better understand the total return expectation at any given time. The price objective reflects the analyst's view of the potential price appreciation (depreciation).

BofA ESGMeter Methodology:

ESGMeter is a proprietary metric based on quantitative analysis and fundamental analyst inputs that reflects our assessment of a company's Environmental, Social and Governance-related attributes. The ESGMeter is intended to indicate a company's likelihood of experiencing stronger financial stability (higher return on equity and lower earnings and price volatility) over the next three years relative to peer group. There are three ESGMeter levels - Low, Medium, and High - which indicate whether a company has attributes most likely to translate into superior financial stability (in the case of a High level) or weaker financial stability (in the case of a Low level) over the next three years relative to its peer group. A Medium level suggests that a company exhibits ESG characteristics that are likely associated with financial stability results in line with its peer group over the next three years. Full details of our methodology, financial stability definition and disclaimers are available at BofA ESGMeter methodology. ESGMeter is not indicative of a company's future stock price performance and is not an investment recommendation or rating. ESGMeter is independent of the BofA Global Research fundamental equity analyst's investment rating, volatility risk rating, income rating or price objective for that company.
